The London Times, of the 10th inst., gives the following particulars of the new lean:—

The unvertainty as to the financial requirements of the government was terminated this morning by the announcement of a new lean in o maols for £3,000,000 sterling, the amount originally stated as that to which it was expected to be finited. The contract is to be made on the morning of Menday, the 19th instant, on the evening of which day the Chanceller of the Exchequer is to bring forward his budger. As the lean is to be for five millions in monay, the amount of stock to be created will be about five millions and a half. A deposit of 10 per cent is to be paid on the 12d inst., and the subsequent instalments are spread over four months, earling the 18th of September. Two of 20 percent each, however, are to fall due in June. The stock is to bear interest from the commencement of the present year, and no discount is to be allowed for prepayment.

ending May 8th, is egain satisfactory, and fully accounts for the increase of ease in the discount market and of animation on the Bourse. The bullion, which in the previous return showed an augmentation of £2,165,000, presents a further improvement of £724,000, and has now recovered to a total of £11 465,000. At the same time the deposits of the public have increased £1,290,000, while the discounts have diminished £344,000, and this, logether with the accumulated means obtained from the running off of discounts, has been employed to sustain the stock and share market, there being an increase of £920 000 in the advances on rentes, and of £280,000 in those on shares. English securities have been subjected to few fauctus-tions during the week. The settlement of the consolis account yesterday showed that there is still a consider-able supply of stock shost, owing to the rapidity of the creation from the last loan. Nevertheless, a disposition to operate for higher prices is still observable, en-couraged by the steady investments of the public, and the rumer that the Bank returns this week will exhibit an increase of about £100,000. The Boston Journal of the 21st inst. says:—

The facts which have come to our knowledge, so far as we can understand the case, show that great injustice has been done to the Vermont and Canada Kailroad Company by the recent decision of Judge Poland, in permitting the Vermont Central first moragage trustices to resume possession of the road. We are informed that the Judge admitted that the opjustions urged against the Vermont and Canada directors were not sustained, but, having decided to give possession to the trustees, he thought it would be injurious to the various interests to reverse his decree again, and believing that Messra. Smith and Brainsrd were worthy of the trust, preferred to continue it to them. There is yet a chance for a smart fight between the two interests, for the Vermont and Canada Company will not permit the matter to be settled thus, in the end, perhaps, there may be prospect of consolidation.

In the month of May last year the total earnings of the ad were $461,894. This year the earnings o' the first twenty days were equal to that sum, leaving the carnings for the rest of the month as an increase on the month last year. We have no doubt that the gross earn-ings for May this year will exceed those for the same month last more than two hundred thousand dollars.

A correspondent of the Boston Post gives the following colletion, made out from the official returns of the $624,866. The total weight carried over the read, hauled one mile, was $5,725,714 tona; of which 11 705,734 were in the passenger department, and 22,028,968 tons were in the reight ceparament, thereby showing the average cost per ton per mile was 1,554 cents; and which would make the total expenses of the passenger department $181,916, and the total expenses of the reight department $342,466.

181,016, and the total expenses of the freight department $342,440.

The number of passengers hauled one mile upon that road in 1835 was 27.369.776, at a cost of $181,916, which would be 0.665 cents per mile; the fare at two cents per mile would amount to $647,396.

It will therefore be parceived that passe gers can be carried upon a cheaply constructed and honesty managed road, with sufficient traffle, at 2 cents per mile; and thereby detray its expenses, afford 6 per cent to its stockholders, and receives handsome surplus for annual depreciation and contingencies.

The receipts from merchandise traffic upon that road in 1856 were.

The expenses of its freight department.

Company gives a pretty good idea of the productiveness of French railways generally. The railroads of France are monopolies. The government does not permit the construction of competition lines, and those in operation have, there'ere, no rivalry to contend with. Notwith standing this, the rates of fare are nearly or quite as low, on the average, as in this country. In the first class cars the charge is three cents per mile; in the second class, two cents; and in the third class, one and a half cents per mile. Most of the travel in France, and on the Continent generally, is in the second class cars, paying but two cents per mile.
